

Eve Leckey

Publications Assistant

eleckey@unicef.org

Short Biographical Sketch

Degree in French and Italian followed by PG diploma in librarianship with specialization in information technology. After years of experience in various libraries in both UK and Italy, branched off into the worlds of publishing, marketing and distribution working for Italian and international companies. Working as a translator lead also into editing, proofing and graphic production. Looking into the future in the picture? Couldn't have imagined this one.

Languages: English mother tongue; Italian.