

MEDIA ADVISORY

Launch of Innocenti Report Card 13: Fairness for Children: A league table of inequality of child well-being in rich countries

Embargoed until 00:01 am (GMT), 14 April 2016

UNICEF will launch the 13th edition of its well-known Innocenti Report Card series, Fairness for Children, examining the impact of rising inequality on children and youth in 41 OECD and EU countries. We encourage journalist advance registration and participation as this event will provide excellent resources for coverage of Report Card 13 and the impact of rising inequality on children in high income countries.

WHERE:	National Library of France (Bibliothèque nationale de France), Petit Auditorium
WHEN:	14:00 – 18:00, 14 April 2016
WHO:	The UNICEF Office of Research – Innocenti has produced the report, which is being launched in collaboration with UNICEF France.

NOTES ON REPORT CONTENTS:

Innocenti Report Card 13 contains new in-depth analysis of comparable data on the impact of inequality on children and youth, including:

- League tables ranking 41 countries in inequality of income, educational attainment and self-reported health and life satisfaction and overall inequality.
- Analysis of bottom end inequality - gaps between the lowest 10th percentile and the middle – throughout.
- Analysis of trends in inequality gaps over time in income, education, health and life satisfaction.
- Priority recommendations for reducing the impact of inequality on the most vulnerable children in rich countries
